

TPro Resort Gateway Features At A Glance

The TPro Resort gateways major advantage is its ability to interconnect closed-loop businesses. TPro provides real-time online transaction data reporting, multi-user access, and can be used from multiple locations. TPro may even act as a virtual terminal to replace the need to purchase countertop terminals and creates centralized reporting, and security.

Resort hotels have multiple MIDS, multiple merchants, and patrons often stay for several days. TPro enables your hotel to convert a simple room key into a virtual credit card that may also act as the rewards card. All parties in the transaction process benefit.

With TPro in place there is a free flow of information that reveals the progress of your guest purchasing through their entire stay. With this broad view of your guest purchasing patterns from a single location, sales and marketing would be assured that its prime prospects for target marketing are on the first mailing list.
